10.40(c)(6) Explanation:

The attorney-client relationship between the practitioner and the assignee was terminated over one year ago, and the practitioner has done no further work for the assignee since the termination. The assignee still owes the practitioner approximately $22,000.00 in fees and out-of-pocket expenses, and no payment has been received by the practitioner from the client since February 1, 2010. Files associated with all of assignee's patents/applications including the file for the present matter, were returned by the practitioner to the assignee when the relationship was terminated over a year ago. Assignee's new patent attorney filed a Power of Attorney in at least one of the returned applications (US App. Serial No. 10/033,520), but for no apparent reason, assignee's new attorney failed to file a Revocation and New Power of Attorney in the present case. Both assignee and assignee's new attorney have been notified by practitioner regarding the maintenance fee that is due in the present case (USP 7,506,066) and that this Request for Withdrawal has been filed.
